

The Hurricane.—A Port Spain (Trinidad) paper of the 20th ult. states that in the gale of the 15th, all but one of 20 vessels at St. Vincents were driven ashore, including the brigs Orleans of Quebec, Dove of St. Andrews, and schr. Henry Clay, of Eliz. City. The Hon. John Littledale, a member of the Council was killed by the destruction of his dwelling house. Several other lives were lost, and a number of dwelling houses and other buildings were destroyed or greatly damaged. The plantations also sustained serious injury. Tobago and Grenada, were but slightly injured by the hurricane.—At St. Lucia, considerable damage was sustained.

Ogdensburgh N. Y. Sept. 6.—While a number of young men, at Black Lake, yesterday morning, were keeping up the old but often dangerous custom of waking up officers for training, by the discharge of fire arms, a shocking accident occurred. A musket in the hands of some one, loaded with a heavy blank cartridge, was discharged when the muzzle was about 6 feet distant from Mr. Simeon Tallman, and the whole charge passed through his body, breaking two of his ribs.—Dr. Smith was called to dress the wound, and although Mr. Tallman is still alive, his recovery is considered as doubtful. We have heard a report that a young man in Depeyster, had his hand blown off by the bursting of a gun when in the act of firing it as a salute to officers yesterday morning.

Robbery.—Daniel Wilkinson, from Waterloo, N. J. and a stranger in the city of New York, missed his way to his boarding house, last Tuesday evening, between 9 and 10 o'clock. He inquired of a man his way to his boarding house, the man told him he would show him, took him down Stone street, to Coenties slip, turned down that; and then stepped behind him and knocked him down and robbed him of his pocket book containing $650. The robber had the manners of a gentleman. One hundred dollars reward are offered for the recovery of the money or in proportion for any part of it.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—As Col. Robert Ambrose, son of Stephen Ambrose Esq. of Concord, N. H. and another gentleman, were crossing the mill dam Tuesday afternoon, in a gig wagon, their horse was frightened by a dog's barking at a loose horse. The carriage was upset; the gentleman in company with Col. Ambrose sprung to the ground uninjured; but Col. Ambrose was thrown out with such violence that he was unable to speak and immediately expired.—The horse cleared himself from the wagon, jumped over the railing, and was killed instantly, having broken his neck.

The City Bank Robbery.—It will be recollected that a part of the money robbed from the City Bank some time since, was deposited by Messrs. S. & M. Allen. Yesterday forenoon a man applied at their office in Wall street, with about 300 dollars in Vermont bank notes for exchange, which they at once recognized or believed to be a part of the identical notes thus deposited and robbed. The man was detained, and after undergoing an examination at the Police Office, was committed for further examination. We understand this individual is William Parkinson, a carver and gilder, who kept a shop at 114 William street, a brother of the wife of Smith, one of the robbers of the City Bank. About 5000 dollars in gold, silver, and bank notes, were found on the person and in the house of Parkinson.—N. Y. Mercantile.

Five Hundred Dollars Reward.—The Governor of Virginia has issued his proclamation, offering a reward of five hundred dollars for the apprehension of Nat Turner, the leader of the late insurrection in Southampton. This fellow is described as between 30 and 35 years old, 5 feet 6 or 8 inches high, weighs about 150 pounds rather bright complexion, but not a mulatto, broad shoulders, large flat nose, large eyes, broad flat feet, rather knock-kneed, walks brisk and active, hair on the top of the head rather thin, no beard, except on the upper lip and the top of the chin, a scar on one of his temples, also one on the back of his neck, a large knot on one of the bones of the right arm, near the wrist produced by a blow.

Emigrants.—Up to the 13th of Sept. this year 732 vessels and 44816 settlers have arrived at Quebec. It is expected the number of vessels through the season will amount to 1000. Up to Sept. 18 last year 647 vessels had arrived, and 23,316 settlers.—Ninety vessels arrived from Sept. 5 to 23, 1831. The prevalence of the Cholera in Russia, &c. had caused many British merchants to withhold their vessels from that trade, and send them to North America. Timber had risen considerably in England.

The source of Pauperism.—By the returns this year from the indefatigable Medical Board of the Dexter Asylum in Providence, we have the melancholy and striking fact, fully authenticated, that out of 126 adults, admitted to the Asylum the past year, who have come under the observation of the attending physicians, ninety-eight were intemperate persons, being five sixths of all the adults, who have been directly reduced to poverty and disease, by the use of ardent spirits!

Suicide.—William Dwyer, who was arraigned in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, now in session, for the murder of his wife, and pleaded guilty, though at the request of his counsel, a plea of not guilty was entered, hung himself yesterday afternoon in his cell, at the Penitentiary. Dwyer was last seen by his keepers about one o'clock yesterday afternoon: nothing in his words or manner betrayed the least suspicion in the minds of any one that he intended to commit suicide. Just about dark, Carrera, whose name is notorious in connexion with the jewels of the Princess of Orange, while pacing the hall of the prison, espied through an aperture in Dwyer's cell, that he was suspended by the neck, and raised a cry, which alarmed the keepers, who instantly hurried to the spot, and on opening the cell, found Dwyer cold and dead. It appears that the unhappy man, who had confessed the crime of murder, and expressed no desire to live, had fixed two pocket handkerchiefs, and his shirt sleeve, to the hinge of his prison door, from which he was found suspended.—N. Y. Mercantile Advertiser.

On Thursday afternoon, David Stevens of Plaistow, N. H. was at the bottom of a well, 20 feet deep, and about to stone it; the earth caved in upon him, and covered him to the depth of about a foot and a half, where he lay between four and five hours! Notwithstanding a considerable number of people were most of the time assembled round the well—no one dared to descend! He would probably have suffocated, had not a boy at the first gone down and removed the earth from his head. Mr. S. was not materially injured.

A lad in the employ of Mr. John Lilly, Umbrella manufacturer, while at work preparing whalebone, over a kettle of boiling water, in Chelsea, accidentally fell into it, and was so severely scalded that he died in a few hours.

Porter's Health Almanac.—The first No. of an Annual, with this title, has been issued from the Literary Rooms in Philadelphia, where are published the Journal of Health, and other works of a similar character. It is, without doubt, one of the best in this country, and deserves to be every where introduced. It contains the necessary astronomical calculations, interspersed with simple rules and maxims for the preservation of health, instead of the nauseous receipts for the cure of disease, and the silly anecdotes usually found in such productions.—Bost. Trav.

Fatal Accident.—Caleb Oakes, Esq. of Danvers (new mills,) fell from the roof of his barn, where he had ascended to look at some repairs. He survived the accident but half an hour.

It is proposed at Quebec to establish a line of Stages to run between that place and the city of Boston.

Poisoned Cattle.—The New Haven Advertiser gives the following, as a remedy for Sheep or Cattle poisoned in consequence of eating Wild Cherry tree leaves, from Mr. Samuel J. Tully, of Saybrook. Take the leaves of the common plantain, bruise and pour on them a little hot water, strain the liquor, and, as soon as it is cool enough, it may be used. I have had sheep apparently in the agonies of death, instantly relieved, and in a few hours entirely cured, by the above remedy. One gill is generally a sufficient dose for a sheep. Having never seen a bullock poisoned in a similar manner, I cannot answer for the success of it, but have no doubt that it would prove an effectual cure.

Death by Intoxication.—A revolutionary veteran named Peter Turner, belonging to Watervliet, N. Y. came to his death in Albany on Saturday, by reason of being pushed from the stoop of a grocery, by one William Lackey. The assailant, who was intoxicated, took offence at the old man's interference in preventing an insult offered to a lady. The skull of the deceased was fractured by the fall, and he died in the course of a few hours. Lackey was apprehended and conveyed to prison.

How fleeting and uncertain is popular favor! The Rev. Mr. Irving, whom but a year ago, nobles and even kings pressed to hear, is now become a field preacher! On Sunday week he declaimed to a mob of about 50 persons; in the fields near Pincras Old Church, Camden Town.—Liverpool Courier.

ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday two respectable colored men, natives of Philadelphia, named John Brothers and John Roxbury, were drowned by the upsetting of a boat, near New-Bedford harbor.

Death by Explosion of Brandy. An extract of a letter from Mount Holly, N. J. to a gentleman in Philadelphia, says—It becomes my painful duty to inform you of the death of our mutual friend, Mr. Daniel Coppuck, of this town. He died last evening after a few hours suffering of the most excruciating agony, from wounds received in the face, breast and thigh, by the explosion of a brandy cask, into which he inadvertently placed a lighted candle. He lived about six hours, leaving a wife and three children to mourn his loss.

Conspiracy in Delaware.—We learn from a gentleman, a resident of Dover, Delaware, who is now in this city; that a few days since, a conspiracy was discovered to have been formed among the blacks in the county of Sussex, Del. with the object of revolting and rising against the whites. The day of election was fixed upon as that on which the attempt should be made. Fortunately, however, the plot was discovered, and twenty-four of the prominent participants in it, were arrested and are now in the prison of Sussex county. Apprehension were also entertained for the quiet of Kent county in the vicinity of Dover. Patrols walk the streets to prevent a surprise, and many of the inhabitants continue in a state of much excitement and alarm.—Phil Gazette.

Last Monday week the venerable Carroll, only surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, entered upon his 95th year.
